Kentucky Valley Educational Cooperative

3rd National

Micro-Credential Summit

June 18 – 19, 2019
Crowne Plaza Hotel, Louisville, KY

#KVECFORWARD

Who We Are:

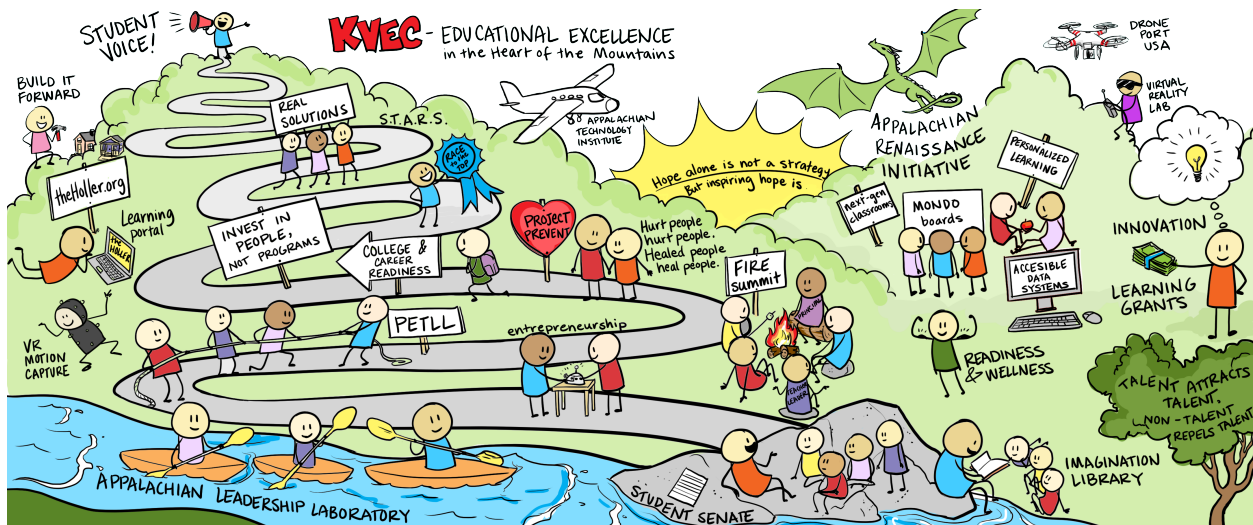

- 23 Rural Public School Districts
- Geographic area larger than Connecticut
 - 139 Schools
 - More than 50,000 students
 - More than 3,000 educators

Our Mission

KVEC's mission is to build the human capital of educators, learners and community members to work together to solve the often pervasive challenges that exist in our rural region.

Our Vision

Reframe the education and community narrative in Appalachian Kentucky.

WHAT ARE MICRO-CREDENTIALS?

- Micro-credentials are a digital form of certification indicating that a person has demonstrated competency in a specific skill, such as data literacy, teacher leadership, or growth mindset.
- Rather than learning by watching, reading, or listening alone, micro-credentials promote learning by doing.
- Educators apply their learnings in their practice and collect evidence, thereby demonstrating their competence.

KVEC is currently developing micro-credentials, hosted by Digital Promise, and is supporting schools in developing systems for personalized professional learning that include micro-credentials.

Assessment Literacy

Educator uses assessment to strengthen the critical connection between teaching and assessing student learning

Framing a Problem of Practice

School leader engages in and facilitates a protocol process to effectively frame a school problem of practice.

Collaborative Coaching

The practitioner (teacher leader, principal, district administrator) engages in powerful, collaborative, and self-initiated coaching for the purpose of improved teaching and learning.

Facilitating Online Computer Science Learning

Facilitator effectively facilitates online computer-science learning.

Developing an Instructional Strategy Checklist

The educator effectively creates a checklist for an instructional strategy, uses to improve/strengthen professional practice, and shares with students to advance student outcomes.

Stack: Teaching Rural Students From Poverty

Understanding Types of Poverty

The educator analyzes student data to deepen their understanding of different types of poverty and subsequently creates data visualizations to communicate new insights about the students they serve.

Coming Soon: Building Relationships, Learning Structures, Interventions, and Social, Emotional and Trauma-Informed Teaching

Educator Micro- Credentials

Competency-Based

Personalized

Clinical

Sharable

On-Demand

Micro-credentials can be displayed as DIGITAL BADGES that are:

- Specific
Support interests, goals and immediate needs
- Transparent
Include data about the issuer, the earner, and the evidence collected
- Stackable
Can be combined to create greater meaning and coherence
- Portable and shareable
Can be shared by the earner wherever and with whomever

You can find KVEC Micro-Credentials and others to meet your professional learning needs at
